

Illegal Conversions

Illegal conversions involve buildings with more dwelling units than zoning allows. This occurs most frequently with single-family houses. Placing more people in a house than it was designed for endangers the lives of the occupants and harms the welfare of neighbors. The Zoning Division investigates complaints of illegal conversions and, initiates actions to eliminate the extra units.